Plants We Eat

We eat many kinds of plants and different parts of plants. Some, like apples and strawberries, are the fruits of plants. Others, like lettuce, are the plant's leaves. Potatoes are the roots of a plant, and peas are the seeds.

Everyone should eat fruits and vegetables every day. They are packed with vitamins and minerals that we need.

The diagram shows a tomato plant with several red tomatoes hanging from its green leaves. A small yellow flower is also visible. Labels with lines pointing to the corresponding parts are: leaves (top), fruit (middle), flower (lower middle), stem (middle), and root (bottom).
